

Product Warranty for the United States

AudioQuest products are manufactured to exacting standards and are subject to rigorous quality control.

However, if a manufacturing defect is found in any cable, connector, or factory assembled product, AudioQuest's non-transferable original-owner limited lifetime warranty has you covered for any cable, connector, or factory assembled product purchased through an authorized AudioQuest US dealer.

At its option, AudioQuest will repair or replace any defective cable, connector, or factory assembled product that has not been abused, for the lifetime of the product. Proof of original purchase is required.

For all other products, AudioQuest provides a limited, non-transferable, one-year warranty to original owners who purchased their product through an authorized AudioQuest dealer in the United States. At its option, AudioQuest will repair or replace any defective product that has not been abused, for up to one year from the original date of purchase. Proof of original purchase is required.

Cables not terminated by AudioQuest that require service may be returned to AudioQuest with prior authorization and repaired for a fee.

This warranty is not an upgrade program for AudioQuest HDMI cables that were designed to meet previous generations of HDMI specifications. Current AudioQuest models are designed to meet HDMI 2.0 (18Gbps) or HDMI 2.1 (48Gbps).

All generations of HDMI cable will provide some, but not all, of the features made possible by HDMI 2.0 and 2.1. All generations of HDMI cable are backwards compatible—they provide all the capabilities of previous generations.

To experience the audio/video benefits made possible by the latest HDMI 2.1 hardware, an HDMI cable must meet HDMI specifications, specifically an FRL-enabled bandwidth of 48Gbps.

This warranty is valid in the United States only. For warranty policies in other countries, please contact your local dealer or distributor.
